LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

The course seeks to introduce students to an in-depth study of

- The Socio-religious reform movements of nineteenth century India and the emergence of the ‘Women’s Question’.
- The writings of Indian women in the nineteenth and early twentieth century.
- The introduction of women’s education in nineteenth century India and its impact on women’s life.
- The recasting of gender in nineteenth century India and women’s response to it as seen in their writings.

COURSE OUTCOME:

The students will have achieved the following at the end of the semester

- Familiarity with the early writings of women in India and the reasons for which they wrote.
- An understanding of the ways in which gender as a social construct informs and shapes the writing of women.
- An insight into the recasting of gender in nineteenth century India.
- A knowledge of the significance of education in the emancipation as well as schooling of women.
- A critical perspective on the upper caste, male dominated reform movements of the nineteenth century. This is enabled by reading the texts of Dalit and lower caste women like Savitribai Phule and Tarabai Shinde which are prescribed in the syllabus.
- A capacity to trace the lineages of contemporary debates on and practices of gender.
