ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

Mangalore University campus at Mangalagangothri, located about 20 km to the south-east of the historic coastal town of Mangalore, sets the tone for the educational endeavours of the three districts under the jurisdiction of the University. It grew out of a modest Postgraduate Centre of the University of Mysore to become the focal point of an independent University in 1980. The campus, which once housed only three postgraduate departments, now has 26 postgraduate departments, supported by modern infrastructure and experienced faculty. Mangalore University has grown impressively since its inception with 204 affiliated colleges, two constituent colleges (at Mangalore and Madikeri) and five autonomous colleges. The University has established Jnana Kaveri, the PG Centre at Chikka Aluvara, Somwarpet taluk, Kodagu district, with two departments, and offers 11 postgraduate and two PhD. programmes. In the campus, there are three internationally recognized science research centres: (i) Microtron Centre, (ii) Center for Application of Radiation and Radioisotope Technology (CARRT), (iii) Centre for Advanced Research in Environmental Radioactivity (CARER), which have been established through funding from Board of Research in Nuclear Sciences (BRNS), Department of Atomic Energy, Government of India. There is an impressive administrative building, two guest houses for visiting dignitaries and faculty, a well-equipped health centre, a shopping complex, two nationalized banks, and an ATM centre. A post office and a telephone exchange function from the campus. The University has taken steps to establish contacts through the exchange of scholars and students with universities in USA, UK, Finland, Japan, Norway, Germany, Spain and other countries. MoUs have been established with leading institutions of the world for research collaboration. Eminent scientists and scholars have been empanelled as Adjunct Faculty to improving the quality and quantum of research, and to support the teaching programmes. An International Students Centre too has been set up to facilitate internationalization in the campus.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT

The Department of Post Graduate Studies and Research in Commerce was established in 1969 as a part of the PG Centre of the University of Mysore, and became an integral part of Mangalore University in 1980. The department offers M.Com (2 batches), M.Com (HRD), and PhD programmes. From the past 50 years the department is continuously engaged in research activities and is active in responding to the problems of this region. The commerce department of Mangalore University has given a versatile talent pool to the society in the form of its talented alumni. M.Com course is the most sought out program of the university and the department has the maximum number of students on the campus. Nearly twenty one colleges affiliated to the university offer M.Com courses and the Department of Commerce extends its assistance to these colleges. The thrust areas of research studies in the commerce base are Trade and Exchange, Banking, Human Resource Development and Management, Finance, Small Business Management, Marketing Management, Rural Development and other cutting-edge topics.
